Quips & Quotes

"One of the finest non-Aboriginal didgeridoo players."

J. Poet -Tower Pulse!

"As a key man in the groups Lights in a Fat City and Trance Mission, Kent has wielded the unwieldy wooden tube as deftly as possible, initiating many Western ears into how the didjeridu should and might be played. "

Steve Heilig - The Beat

"Merging spirituality and the modern world...[Kent is] a true future primitive in the most expansive sense possible."

Brad Balfour - The New Review of Records

"If you've ever tried to play didgeridoo you will instantly have great respect for Stephen Kent. "

Hypno

"Kent is helping revolutionize the way we perceive this fascinating instrument "

Jon Woodhouse - The Maui News

"In the hands of Stephen Kent, the didgeridoo urges the listener to follow its resonating song from one of its pioneering virtuosos. "

Eric Watson - URB

"Stephen Kent is a formidable talent."

Sandy Anderson - NAPRA Review

"Kent proves that one doesn't need electricity to make ambient music...he paints an amazing, textured landscape of layered resonating hums that massage the mind and body into perfect spiritual accord. "

Oculus Magazine

"If you're skeptical about being swept away by someone blowing through a hollowed-out branch, you're in for a big surprise."

SF Weekly
